

Keeping Accurate Inventory On the Salesfloor

Everyone who works on the salesfloor has a role in keeping accurate inventory records. Good housekeeping can help prevent many inventory errors. It will also help with loss prevention. Here are a few ways you can help.

RETURN ORPHANS

Orphan items are items in the wrong location in the store. If they're in the wrong location, you or your customers won't be able to find them. You may also think you're out and order more. Return orphan items to their proper location.

03

REPORT EMPTY PACKAGES

An empty package is often a sign of a shoplifter. Report empty packages to a manager. You'll need to order a replacement product.

05

ORGANIZE MESSY DISPLAYS

Even if your store is fully stocked and inventory records are accurate, it won't matter if customers can't find what they need. Organize messy displays so customers can find what they're looking for quickly and easily.
